

PUBLIC ART

IN CIVIC PLAZA, LIBRARY AND CITY HALL

ARTS | CULTURE | NORTH VANCOUVER

1. 35 RINGS

Antonio Millares III & Jeremy Crowle

A symbolic representation of tree rings, offering subtle hints to the history of the City of North Vancouver.

2. FALLEN TREE – NEW BEGINNINGS

Brent Comber

A tangle of cedar benches pays homage to the fallen tree that provides fertile ground for future generations.

3. THE CHIEF

Ray Natraoro & Victor Harry

An ancient Squamish Nation legend about magical creatures, heroic efforts and people uniting is told through this beautifully carved pole.

4. INTEGRATE PLANE

Barry Cogswell

The City's first public artwork, this 1975 sculpture provides an artistic interpretation of the geography of the City of North Vancouver.

5. MY PEOPLE WILL RISE UP – LIKE A THUNDERBIRD FROM THE SEA

Marianne Nicolson

This carved glass mural is inspired by the words of Chief Dan George spoken during Canada's Centennial in 1967.

6. CONTINUUM

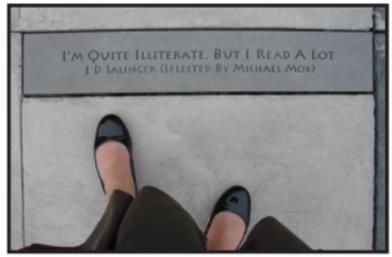

Katherine Kerr

This simple band of stainless steel twists upon itself to reflect events and visions of the past and the present.

7. TREE OF KNOWLEDGE, FRAGMENTS

Nancy Chew & Jacqueline Metz

Blue stone panels embedded in front of the library are engraved with images of tree branches and inspiring quotes selected by library donors.

8. WILBUR'S WEB

Alan Storey

Two custom designed LED screens reveal hidden text as they move within the light wells in the North Vancouver City Library.

9. ANCIENT SUN

Wade Baker

This 8-foot cedar carving is located on the east wall of City Hall. In First Nations' culture, the sun is known to provide healing energy and ancient wisdom.

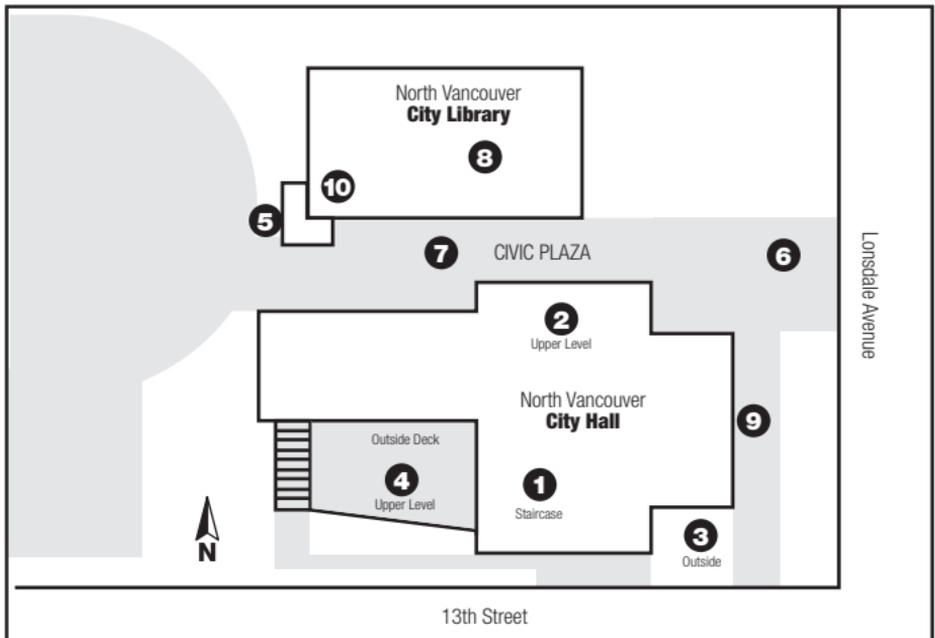

10. READING TREE AND WALL PANELS

Judson Beaumont

The Reading Tree and Wall Panels in the children's section of the North Vancouver City Library inspire the imaginations of young and old.
